

SIRIMA

Primitivo
Red Salento IGT

The name

In the Salento dialect, Sirima means “my father”.

A memory that evokes the simple ritual of drinking a glass of red wine after a hard day in the fields.

The importance of traditions and of family bonds is carried over into Terre di Corillo's ongoing efforts to produce this sincere, authentic wine.

Grapes and terroir

100% Primitivo, pure and genuine. The typical Salento soil, with its characteristic red hue and its composition rich in metals, minerals, clay and lime, helps to shape this wine's identity and personality.

Cultivation and harvest method

Manual work, which is vital, is aided and enhanced day after day by the most modern viticulture systems to carefully tend the vines of Terre di Corillo. The grapes are harvested strictly by hand and placed in vented crates to preserve their integrity, before undergoing an additional, thorough selection process.

This ensures the finest quality, with the utmost respect for the environment and the end consumer.

ABV

15% Alc./Vol.

Bouquet and flavour

A heady, exuberant nose bursting with ripe fruit notes and a hint of tobacco is projected into a flavour with plenty of personality.

A complex, velvety texture characterized by a play of full and hollow sensations, which leave a pleasantly light finish on the palate.
